RAPID TRANSIT DEMANDED.

MERCHANTS PRAISE THE MAYOR'S VIEWS. & CHAMBER OF COMMERCE COMMETTEE TALE TO

ALDERMEN-OPPOSING THE CABLE SCHEME. When the Committee on Railroads of the Board Aldermen met yesterday in the chamber of the ard there was a large throng in attendance Prominent among those present was a committee from the Chamber of Commerce, consisting of ax-Mayor Seth Low, Henry Hentz, A. E. Orr, esident of the Produce Exchange, and Morris Jesup. Chairman Jesup, in making his ad-L. Jesup. Gress, said that the question of rapid transit had made a great impression on the members of the Chamber of Commerce, and resolutions had been adopted indorsing Mayor Hewitt's views. Chamber were prepared to co-operate with the Mayor, but for the present the matter rested, because they had not had time to consult together. One thing was agreed, however, that rapid transit was an absolute necessity. He was in favor of the city undertaking the work. Alderman Conkling wanted to know if Mr. Jesup realized that the success of his proposition neant a delay of three years if the city were to andertake the work, because a new constitunndertake the work, because a new constitutional provision would have to be submitted to the people.

Mr. Jesup said that he was not prepared to discuss the constitutionality of the proposed measure. He was more than pleased to find that the Mayor had courage and ability to tell the citizens of New-York what they most need.

Mr. Orr said that he represented an institution with a membership of more than 3,000, many of them large taxpayers. The Board of Managers had approved that part of the Mayor's message referring to rapid transit. Their action might be taken as an indication of the general opinions of the members of the Produce Exchange.

In reply to a question from Mr. Conkling whether the Produce Exchange would indorse either a cable, arcade or underground railroad, Mr. Orr said that the Exchange would be willing to indorse any system which would give the city rapid transit facilities.

Ex-Mayor Low said that he was a resident of the City of Brooklyn, and did not wish to intrude his opinion, but as a member of the Chamber of Commerce, he could unequivocally indorse that point in the message of Mayor Hewitt that the new rapid transit lines should be owned by the city. To attain so great an object the city could well afford to wait three years. Not a day was passed by him in the City Hall of Brooklyn that he did not regret that the control of many public improvements had passed from the municipal authorities.

The delegation then withdrew.

J. R. Cuming opposed the Cable Railway soheme. He said that one of the routes asked for by the Cable Company conflicted with the charter rights of his clients, the Central Park, North and East River Railroad Company. Mr. Cuming saked if they promoters of the Cable Road had evergiven any evidence of honesty, good faith or capacity? Were they anything else than adventurers?

Mr. Cuming said that this was patent to everybedy if they offer to carry any one over seventy

Mr. Cuming said that this was patent to everybody if they offer to carry any one over seventy miles of streets for five cents.
W. C. Trull, of counsel for the Chambers Street Railroad Company, said that any consideration of the cable scheme was a waste of time, as that corporation had not published the two weeks' notice in two papers designated by the Mayor, as required by law.
Chairman Fitzsimmons thought this was only a technicality.

technicality.

W. W. Cohen, of the Third Avenue Surface
Railroad, O. E. Bright, of the Dry Dock and East Broadway, and Joseph Ecclesine, for the Lexington-ave, property-owners, strongly opposed the Cable Company's scheme.

The committee then adjourned to next Friday.

MORRIS DINKELSPIEL OUSTED. "THE TELBUNE'S" EXPOSURE LEFT NO OTHER

COURSE OPEN-MORE CUSTOMS CHANGES.
THE TRIBUNE had little to do when it told thos stories of Morris Dinkelspiel's life at the race track and cheated him out of a good Government position. said a friend of the ex bookmaker yesterday. That was his way of putting the fact that Dinkelspiel had been dropped out of the Customs service.

The story of the Dinkelspie appointment is well known. When Peter H. Jobes, paymaster in the auditor's division, was degraded to a clerkship because of his misapplication of funds intrusted to him, the friends of Da'y's bookmaker, Morris Dinkelspiel, went quietly to work for the vacant place. Dinkej-spiel was appointed and had filed his bonds before the jubic had even heard of the probable consideration of his name. Then THE TRIBUNE did what the Goverament should have done in the first place. It in-quired about Dinkelspiel's antecedents and his capacity for the position. As soon as the facts were published Dinkeispiel's appointment was suspended. That was month ago, but not until yesterday was a decision rendered in his case Edward Selleck was appointed paymaster with a salary of $2,500 in Dinkerspiel's The latter feels grieved at the course of THE TRIBUNE, but the public has reason to feel grateful that the funds of the Government are not to be handled by a race-track poolseller and bookmaker.

THE NORTH GERMAN LLOYDS NEW STEAMER. The transationale fleet of steamships has received an important addition in the steamship Lahn, of the North German Lloyd, which promises to show her heels to the others unless they change their compound engues for the triple-expansion type. The ow steamer arrived here yesterday on her first trip in 7 days, 16 hours from Southampton, which s equal to 6 days, 22 hours from Queenstown. The is equal to 6 days, 22 hours from Queenstown. The Lahn, too, promises to make better time after her bearings are worn down. The new hoat is built of steel, is 465 feet long, 49 feet broad, 36 1-2 feet deep, and of 6,500 tons measurement. She has accom-modations for 224 first class, 106 second-class, and about 700 third-class passengers, besides ample ac-commodation for the ship's officers and crew, 170 in number. All the flittings are a marvel of hearty and first.

WHERE IS THAT PETITION FOR J. D. FISHS The petition for the pardon of James D. Fish, new in the Auburn State Prison, seems to have stuck in pigeonhole at Washington. About a year ago the information got abroad that the Pardon Clerk had comehow forgotten to forward the petition to the Attorney-General, but the creditors of Grant & Ward were assured that it "would get there" ultimately, and that in due time it would find its way to the Presidential table. From all that can be learned, however, it appears that Edwin B. Smith, of Stanley, Clarke & Smith, Mr. Fish's attorneys, who had special charge of the petition, has abandoned all hope of its unerging from a pigeonhole.

TO SPEAK ON FOREIGN MISSION WORK. R. P. Wilder, the young Princeton graduate, now at the Union Theological Seminary, of this city, who has been creating much interest in behalf of Student Movement Toward Foreign Missions," will speak in the chapel of the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian church (Dr. Crosby's), at Fourth-ave, and Twenty-second-st., to-morrow evening under the auspices of the Young People's Prayer Meeting Association of that church. The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock, and Mr. Wilder, who is the son of a missionary in India, will speak of "The reasons which have led 2,200 students to go abroad; the need in the foreign field; the success of missions; the benefits to the home church arising from work abroad, and the Biblical argument for foreign work." There will be singing by a double quartet composed of members of the association.

DOINGS OF THE POLICE BOARD.

THE "TICKER" HAS COME TO STAY. BROKERS SAY IT IS NOW A NECESSITY. THE LEGAL FIGHT GOES ON BETWEEN THE RIVAL

STOCK EXCHANGES. The leading actors in the "ticker" war between the New-York Stock Exchange and the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange, which was continued in the Special Term of the Supreme Court before Judge Brown in Brooklyn, yesterday, were General Benjamin F. Tracy, for the plaintiff in the suit, and James C. Carter, for the principal defendant. Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll. for the Commercial Telegram Company, kept himself in reserve.

Lewis E. Ransom, Edward King, president of the Union Trust Company; Spencer Trask, Charles E. Orvis, Edward F. Strong, George W. Hoagiand, and K. L. White, all brokers, were called by the defence and explained that the quotations from the New-York Stock Exchange governed the market values of the securities dealt in on the exchange and said that the quotations were accepted as a standard both in this country and The cross-examination conducted by Mr. Carter, was to show that the value of a stock or bond was fixed at the place where dealings in it were the largest, and not always at the New-York Stock Exchange. But the witnesses told how the "ticker" now brought them the news of the quotations, and upon the value fixed by these quotations loans were made and stocks bought and sold. K. L. White said tha if the "tickers" were stopped for a day, chaowould result, the wheels of finance would be stopped. Colonel Ingersoll ventured the remark that the removal of the "tickers" now would administer a stroke of paralysis to the financial that the removal of the "tickers" now would administer a stroke of paralysis to the financial world, and the large amount of evidence set up by the plaintiffs was in support of the assumption that the "tickers" were a necessity and must legally be subject to public control.

George W. Casper, secretary of the Commercial Telegram Company: William B. Green, a subscription agent of the company, and Join Anderson, the former president of the company, testified to the details of the arrangements made with the New-York Stock Exchange for getting the quotations. George L. Hutchings, the cashier of the Third National Bank, supplemented the brokers who said that tickers were essential to business as it is transacted now. George W. Ely, the secretary of the New-York Stock Exchange, described how the quotations are given out by the clerks of the Exchange. Francis E. Fitch, executive officer of a printing company, testified as to the way his company collected the quotations; and Thomas L. Munson, a broker of New-York and Boston, was called by the defence to prove that stock values were not regulated by the New-York Stock Exchange alone.

William H. Smith, General Manager of the Associated Press, told how the Associated Press gathered the quotations from the New-York Stock Exchange and sent them out all over the world and declared that the quotations were regarie, everywhere as standard. Edward S. Stokes, president of the Commercial Telegram Company, said that E. A. Drake, the chairman of the committee of Arrangements of the New-York Stock Exchange, did not act in good faith with him when he was trying to get rid of the Comolidated Exchange, and he was a firm friend of the latter institution. "I set my men to drag out the 'tickers' and we were heavily funed for it," he said, "and had to put them back."

General Tracy rested his case and the suit will go on next Tuesday.

The failure of a bank at Cincinnati, with arrest of officers, on account of speculations in real estate, oil and gas, and the failure of Bensley Brothers at Chicago, an old grain house with large credit, call attention to the chief cause of hesitation in business. A vest amount of capital has been locked up, and a vast body of indebtedness created, in connection with the real estate, grain and other speculations of the past year. Indebtedness based on fictitious valuations of property or composition in not a few cases, will have to be liquidated commodities, in not a few cases, will have to be liquidated at a loss. The wars of rates between Western roads have now gone so far that the rates charged are said to any quarter. Those who have put money into many new lines, where new lines were not needed, have no reason to expect returns until the business of the country has largely increased. Meanwhile the linerstate law the trouble beg n. but no sign of settle makes any settlement more difficult, and places United States roads at a disadvantage in competition with Cana-

You have no doubt found it difficult to find a satisfactory soap for office use where the consumption is considerable and expensive soaps cannot be afforded. "Cheap" soaps are used, but from their greasy, acrid and irritating character, are very unsatisfactory. No such experience can occur with the Ivory Soap, for it is 9914 % pure, and no one is so poor but can afford the "IVORY." Send your office-boy for a cake

A WORD
There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'lvory';"
they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities WARNING. of the genuine. Ask for "lvory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

BROADWAY AND 19TH STREET.

We have male two divisions of our stock of winter trousers, those marked $6 and under-those marked $6.50 and above. The average cost of each division is ascertained and a strong discount from that average produces the exact figures $3.87 for the quality previously sold for $4.50, $5, $5.50 and $6.

$5.93 for those formerly $6.50, $7, $8, $9 and $10. Excellent time to select a pair of winter trousers.

Yesterday morning there remained in the two stores just 116 of those $15 and $18 "Reefers" reduced to $5 all small sizes, 33, 34 and 35 inches breast measure. There ought to be that many small men willing to accept a good thing when offered.
